

GOVERNMENT AND BUSINESS ARE READY TO MEET EACH OTHER HALF WAY WILSON

President Outlines His Trust Program in Message to Congress; Remedies Are Inadequate, Progressives; Democrats Pleased

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—President Wilson's suggestion tonight in his trust address that the government and business men are ready to meet each other half way, "in a common effort to square business methods with both public opinion and the law," fell on attentive ears, and struck a responsive chord in representatives of different parties.

The atmosphere of cooperation and "accommodation" in the message and in the reforms proposed, expressed in terms of conservatism, and the spirit of friendliness, which dominated the president's thoughts, aroused expressions of approval from all.

Few discordant notes were sounded in comments from members of congress who are to pass upon legislation urged to inhibit monopoly and hold men of business within the law.

Throughout the delivery of the address the assembled senators and representatives listened intently to every word, applauding frequently when the president began the enumeration of the evils which he believed needed remedying.

His proposal for an interstate trade commission to facilitate business, and in the straight path, the recommendation of laws to prohibit interfering with interstate commerce, and suggestions for authority to regulate railroad securities, for an act to fix guilt upon individuals of "fixing business," and for courts to be opened to individuals to sue for business, all were received with general approval, evidenced by enthusiastic applause.

Starts Immediate Action.
The president's address was received by the audience with a sense of relief, and as the president was leaving the house chamber where he had been speaking since last night, his utterances had precipitated immediate action.

Representative Underhill, of New York, was the first to rise, and he called for the joint session held to hear the president's address, and he called for the joint session held to hear the president's address, and he called for the joint session held to hear the president's address.

Disturbs Program.
The action of the house in referring the message to the interstate and foreign commerce committee, which Representative Adamson, of Michigan, chairman, somewhat disturbs the program mapped out by the president's address, headed by Representative Clayton, of Alabama, already has held hearings and will have a tentative draft of a trade commission bill.

ORGANIZATION IS FARMER'S RELIEF ANARCHY IN COLO. STRIKE FIELD--WHITE

DR. CARVER POINTS OUT RURAL CONDITIONS

Livestock Man Tells Why Cost of Meat Is High and Supply Is Scarce

DENVER, Jan. 20.—An appeal for community organizations of farmers and for increased social activity on the part of farmers' wives and daughters was made late today to livestock men from all over the nation who are here in attendance upon the nineteenth annual convention of the American National Livestock association, by Dr. T. N. Carver, director of rural organization service of the federal department of agriculture.

Organization, he said, was the best way, and the only practical one, by which the farmer might improve his status in every way. He urged the formation of communities into groups that would take up questions of production, marketing and improvement of lands.

On the other hand he warned the farmers against allowing such organizations to be made the means of exploitation of unfit machinery by unscrupulous companies, and cited instances of assembly organizations which frequently had done their members gross injustice because of their being the channels through which poor machinery was sold.

The life of the woman on the farm came in for much of Dr. Carver's attention. He declared that their homes should contain more pleasure and less drudgery, and said that more companionship with other farm women would result in a feeling of cooperative friendliness among the farmers of a community which would redound to the welfare, financial and moral, of all concerned.

Dr. Carver suggested that the farm woman should spend much of her time beautifying the home place and making it the haven for "retired" farmers, instead of the towns and cities, in which, he believed, a large portion of those farmers, who had accumulated a degree of wealth, make their final homes.

Make Farm the Home.
Dr. Carver could find no excuse for the lack of attractiveness which he had found in many farmhouses, and declared it his belief that much of the migration of farmers' children to cities and towns could be averted if the farm home were a true home.

The organization of community farmers, he explained, would be an appealing factor in bringing about more pleasant home surroundings on every farm, as well as effecting financial gain for the farmers.

The entire afternoon was taken up by the address of Dr. Carver, and the day's session adjourned without any committee action on the several questions before the association.

The annual address of H. A. Jastro, president of the association, was an exhaustive review of the live stock industry in the United States and other countries. Mr. Jastro expressed the belief that the removal of the tariff on live stock and meat would not injure appreciably the live stock industry, and that prices will not long remain below the present level.

T. T. Fryer, of San Antonio, Tex., discussed Mexico and Canada as competitive live stock countries and the effect of the abolition of the tariff on the industry in the United States.

Exaggeration of meat importations since the removal of the tariff was pointed out by J. E. Poole of Chicago, who declared that there had not affected the market as much as the precipitate unloading of live stock by American growers.

Welcoming addresses were made by Governor E. M. Ammons of Colorado, Mayor J. M. Perkins of Denver and Isaac Baer, president of the Colorado Live Stock association. J. M. Kendrick, president of the Wyoming Stock Growers association, responded.

Lord Strathcona, high commissioner for Canada, died at 55 o'clock this morning. He had been practically unconscious since half past 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Lord Strathcona's death was due to prostration the result of a severe attack of catarrh. He had been ill, however, since the death of his wife on November 12 last, which proved a great shock to him.

Lord Strathcona's life spanned nearly a century, and his active career a full three-quarters. "The best way to live to an old age," he explained when found at work at his desk in London on his ninety-third birthday, on August 6 last, is by not thinking about age at all but just going on doing your work."

MEXICAN ARMY CAMPS IN U. S.

Refugee Federals Now at Fort Bliss

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 20.—Guarded by United States cavalrymen the 3,800 Mexican federal soldiers and their 1,364 women and children camp followers who were forced to seek asylum in this country during the battle at Ojinaga, Mexico, today were interned at Fort Bliss for an indefinite stay on the footing of prisoners of war.

Gen. Salvador Merado, when his soldiers tumbled off the train which brought them from Marfa, Tex., was still commander of his troops, but his authority was subordinate to that of the American officers. His duties were largely to assist in organizing the camp. The former chief of the Huasteca army still wearing bits of gold braid on his uniform worked directly under Brig. Gen. Hugh L. Scott of the United States army and showed his gratitude for the treatment of himself and his men by telling the Mexican soldiers to obey orders.

Similar evidences of gratitude were shown by Generals Castro Landra, Ornela, Romero and Aduna, all of whom came on the long march on foot from Presidio, Tex. to Marfa, and thence by train to El Paso.

Merado Explains Flight.
Soon after their arrival the refugees were spread over the reservation, mixing beans with chili and making tortillas out of flour furnished by the American army. How long the Mexicans are to be fed sheltered and clothed by the United States is not known, but the arrangements were to keep them here possibly a long time.

In defense of his abandonment of Ojinaga, and in answer to criticisms from Mexico City, General Merado detailed his reasons for taking asylum in this country.

He charged Gen. Pascual Orozco with cowardice and insubordination. He said Orozco repeatedly had robbed the federal provision train had become arrogant, had refused to attack the rebels, had abandoned his own troops and had run away under fire to give the impression that he heroically would remain on the Mexican side to fight more battles, whereas Orozco was afraid to go into the United States because of an indictment pending against him.

He said Orozco had demanded money, and had placed drunken officers at the head of his forces.

Others Abandoned Posts.
General Merado charged that Gen. Francisco Salazar and Gen. Antonio Rojas, volunteer commanders, were cowardly under fire and that they abandoned their posts.

Convicts Received Aid from Outside

Telephone Girl Tells Story of Mutiny; Officials Investigate Outbreak

MALESTER, Okla., Jan. 20.—That the three convicts whose dash for liberty from the state penitentiary here yesterday cost the lives of themselves, three prison officials and former United States Judge John F. Tillman, had outside aid was indicated by evidence heard today by members of the board of prison control.

The revolver used by David Koontz, leader of the mutinous prisoners, was identified as one recently sold by a local hardware dealer. The salesman recalled selling the weapon but the identity of the man who made the purchase has not been established. It was also learned that a horse and wagon, without a driver was standing at the prison gates when the men made their break. Members of the board intimated tonight that their inquiry so far failed to connect any "trustees" with the planning or the execution of the attempted escape.

Virtually normal conditions prevailed at the penitentiary today. At the prison hospital it was said Miss Mary Foster, the telephone operator, John Martin, turnkey, and J. L. Wood, guard who were wounded during the fight, would recover.

Girl Recites Experience.
Miss Foster today gave a brief story of the battle. After describing the killing of former Judge Tillman and three prison employees, Miss Foster said:

The convicts then broke the telephone and grabbed me just after I was shot, and carried me with them until they seized Parole Clerk Rice. Rushing on in front of them they told the guards in the tower to let their guns come down. Rice begged them to come down or the convicts would kill me. I still feel their guns pressed against my head. Then they put me in the buggy and one of the convicts hurried me down on his knees as we hurried along.

The convicts must have been out of cartridges for they fired but one shot back. The convict who was wounded told me to get out of the buggy, and I got out while the horse was running. I begged them time and again along the road to let me out of the buggy, but they still held me.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ENDS GREATEST YEAR SINCE ALL BODIES WERE CONSOLIDATED

Membership Now Totals 1,023, an Increase of 240 During 1913; Reports From Committees Show Big Volume of Work Done During Year

That the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce is a very much alive organization and an active factor in the development of the city and state was proved beyond a doubt at the annual meeting last night when 300 business and professional men of the city, all members of the organization, met at the rooms in the Burns theater and listened to the reports of the 17 or more committees in which the accomplishments of the various working units of the body were detailed for the last year. The meeting was the liveliest and most enthusiastic session ever held by the organization, and a new and unbeatable impetus for the work of the new year was created.

With the meeting last night the first three-year period of the consolidated organization was brought to a close and those members elected to the board of directors at the initial meeting with one exception, retired and placed their stewardship in the hands of new men. The new board of directors will probably meet tomorrow at the Antlers to elect the new president and other officers for the coming year.

Many New Members Out.
The meeting last evening was attended by a large number of the new members taken in during recent campaigns and each one of these was made to realize that he is now a part of a working and active organization. The meeting started at 8:30 with a supper served in informal manner. Aside from the reading of reports by the chairman of various committees there was a short talk by Henry C. Hall in which he complimented the organization on the work of the last year. Several amendments to the by-laws were adopted as were also all of the reports read.

A survey in brief of the several reports shows that the Chamber of Commerce now has an active membership of 1,023, after starting the year with 783 resident and seven nonresident members. The deficit of the organization due to enlarged work, at the beginning of 1913 was $2,700, and at the close of the year was but $500 or $600, the exact amount depending upon the amount of delinquent dues still collectable. A total of 330 meetings were held during the year and 351 members were on committees, the correspondence amounted to 8,595 letters, 2,285 inquiries, 1,530 circular letters, 8,670 new letters, and 8,000 membership bulletins. In all 250,000 pieces of literature were sent out.

Reports were read from the following committees, only the most salient points of the contents being given here:

Finance Committee.
The report of the finance committee shows that outstanding debts of the Chamber of Commerce amount to $771.07, with collectable accounts of $482.37, leaving a deficit of $487.70. The receipts for the year 1913 and to January 21, 1914 were $15,322 and the expenditures for the same period were $15,739.98, leaving a balance in the bank of $482.37. The report for the year on the tourist travel fund shows a balance of $69.62.

The financial statement for the Pike Peak region, Shan Kive from June 1, 1913 to December 31, 1913 shows a cash balance of $153.33, the receipts for the period being $9,998.14 and the expenditures $9,844.81.

Committee on Conventions.
Twenty-one important conventions were held in Colorado Springs and Manitou during the last year. Due to these meetings, 1,785 visitors were attracted to the city.

Committee on Retiring Directors.
To those of us who as members of the board of directors have been privileged to work with these men during the last year, it is with sincere regret that we bid them adieu.

Minority Members Declare It Has Not Been Shown That Coal Costs 'Too Much'

Both Reports of Coal Mine Investigating Commission Will Be Presented Today

Minority members of the municipal coal mine investigating commission yesterday presented to the commission a minority report on the probe. The report is signed by W. W. Curtis, E. D. Bowers and J. J. Lubank. The minority report together with that of the majority adopted last Friday night, will be presented to the city council this morning.

Objections to the majority report, minority members said in their findings, are based almost entirely on the assumption that the present price of coal in Colorado Springs is too high. They argue that no evidence was introduced proving that high prices exist, and that certain persons had merely stated as their belief that the prices are high, but that they know nothing of conditions under which operators and dealers are working at present.

Practically all the findings in the minority report were brought out in speeches by minority members during the last session of the commission.

Opposed to Thomas Contract.
One of the chief findings was that the city should not enter into a contract with Thomas E. Thomas, first because his mine is not sufficiently large to supply any number of people, and because he has never demonstrated his ability to manage a large mine, third because such a contract would not help the people who most need help. The minority members argue that if Thomas or any other operator finds he can sell coal at a lower price than at present that he do so directly rather than attempt to make the city the middleman. His charge that the other operators would put him out of business is absurd, the report says.

Curtis and his associates declare that they are in sympathy with any attempt to secure a reduction in the price of coal but they object to the commission assuming that coal is selling too high at present. The report, it is claimed, thus saves.

It is true that there have been statements made to the commission that coal could be produced and sold at the mine for substantially less than it has been sold for during the last three months. It has also been stated that coal could be delivered to this city for much less than it is claimed by the dealers to now cost. When these statements are analyzed, however, the estimates are the cost of mining coal are found to be by men who never had anything to do with the management of a large mine who had no business training and no conception of what overhead expenses are. Their idea of the cost of production of coal is the cost of raw coal, plus the cost of transportation. These gentlemen admitted that his production for the last year was less than that of the present Colorado Springs mines produces in one day. There are submitted to the commission a statement of the items which cost the city the cost of producing coal, the cost of practically all the items being disrupted and put at a loss of them outside of the local expense and props having been built in the estimates referred to. It would be apparent to any business man that a business amounting to from $100,000 to $200,000 per year which would represent in a measure any coal business which could take care of any considerable part of the local demand cannot be managed by amateur bookkeeping methods and without considerable overhead charge.

Numerous other minor matters brought out during the sessions of the commission are contained in the report.

LORD STRATHCONA DIES IN LONDON

Noted Pioneer of Canada; Was High Commissioner Dominion at Death

LONDON, Jan. 21 (Wednesday).—Lord Strathcona, high commissioner for Canada, died at 55 o'clock this morning. He had been practically unconscious since half past 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Lord Strathcona's death was due to prostration the result of a severe attack of catarrh. He had been ill, however, since the death of his wife on November 12 last, which proved a great shock to him.

"The best way to live to an old age," he explained when found at work at his desk in London on his ninety-third birthday, on August 6 last, is by not thinking about age at all but just going on doing your work."

From his eighteenth year, when as Donald Smith, a sturdy Scot, he sailed for Canada, to his ninety-fourth year, which would have been completed next August, he lived up to his maximum of work. For the past six years he had been periodically reported as "about to resign" the post of high commissioner for Canada, but it was death and not his resignation which terminated his work.

GOVERNMENT AND BUSINESS ARE READY TO MEET EACH OTHER HALF WAY WILSON

President Outlines His Trust Program in Message to Congress; Remedies Are Inadequate, Progressives; Democrats Pleased

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—President Wilson's suggestion in his trust address that the government and business men are ready to meet each other half way, "in a common effort to square business methods with both public opinion and the law," fell on attentive ears, and struck a responsive chord in representatives of different parties.

The atmosphere of cooperation and "accommodation" in the message and in the reforms proposed, expressed in terms of moderation, and the spirit of friendliness, to supersede animosity in dealing with big business, which dominated the president's thoughts, aroused expressions of approval from all. A few discordant notes were sounded in comments from members of congress who are to pass upon legislation urged to limit monopoly and hold men of business within the law.

Members of the house judiciary committee, and while Mr. Underwood was offering his motion to refer, Representative Clayton and Carlisle of Virginia stood at his elbow pleading that he change his course of action.

ORGANIZATION IS FARMER'S RELIEF DR. CARVER POINTS OUT RURAL CONDITIONS

Livestock Man Tells Why Cost of Meat Is High and Supply Is Scarce

DENVER, Jan. 20.—An appeal for community organizations of farmers and for increased social activity on the parts of farmers' wives and daughters, was made late today to livestock men from all over the nation who are here in attendance upon the seventeenth annual convention of the American National Livestock association, by Dr. T. N. Carver, director of rural organization service of the federal department of agriculture.

Organization, he said, was the best way, and the only practical one, by which the farmer might improve his status in every way. He urged the formation of communities into groups that would take up questions of production, marketing and improvement of lands.

On the other hand, he warned the farmers against allowing such organizations to be made the means of exploitation of unfraternal machinery by unscrupulous companies, and cited instances of company organizations which frequently had done their members gross injustice because of their being the channels through which poor machinery was sold.

The life of the woman on the farm came in for much of Dr. Carver's attention. He declared that their home lives should contain more pleasure and less drudgery, and said that more companionship with other farmwomen would result in a feeling of cooperative friendliness among the farmers of a community which would redound to the welfare, financial and moral, of all concerned.

Dr. Carver suggested that the farmwomen should spend much of her time beautifying the home place and making it the haven for "retired" farmers. Instead of the towns and cities, in which, he believed, a large portion of those farmers who had accumulated a hoard of wealth, make their final homes.

Make Farm the Home Dr. Carver could find no excuse for the lack of attractiveness which he had found in many farmhouses, and declared it his belief that much of the migration of farmers' children to cities is due to the fact that the farm is not a home.

The entire afternoon was taken up by the address of Dr. Carver, and the day's session adjourned without any committee action on the several questions before the association.

The annual address of H. A. Jastro, president of the association, was an exhaustive review of the live stock industry in the United States and other countries. Mr. Jastro expressed the belief that the removal of the tariff on live stock and meat would not injure appreciably the live stock industry, and that prices will not long remain below the present level.

I. T. Pryor of San Antonio, Tex., discussed Mexico and Canada as competitors of live stock countries and the effect of the abolition of the tariff on the industry in the United States.

Exaggeration of meat importations since the removal of the tariff was pointed out by J. E. Poole of Chicago, who declared that these had not affected the market as much as the precipitate unloading of live stock by American growers.

Welcoming addresses were made by Governor E. M. Ammons of Colorado, Mayor J. M. Perkins of Denver and Isaac Baer, president of the Colorado Live Stock association. J. M. Kendrick, president of the Wyoming Stock Growers association, responded.

LONDON, Jan. 21 (Wednesday).—Lord Strathcona, high commissioner for Canada, died at 1.55 o'clock this morning. He had been practically unconscious since half past 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Lord Strathcona's death was due to prostration the result of a severe attack of catarrh. He had been ailing, however, since the death of his wife on November 12 last which proved a great shock to him.

Lord Strathcona's life spanned nearly a century and his active career a full three quarters. The best way to live to an old age, he explained when found at work at his desk in London on his ninety-third birthday, on August 6 last, is by not thinking about age at all, but by going on doing your work.

ANARCHY IN COLO. STRIKE FIELD--WHITE

Says Militia Has Been Used for Benefit of Mine Operators

"LABOR WINS OUT, THOUGH" United Mine Workers Meet in Indianapolis in Biennial Convention

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 20.—Development of the United Mine Workers' nonunion fields was commented on at length in the report of Frank J. Hayes, vice president of the organization at the convention which opened here today. He spoke in disapproval of the labor situation in West Virginia, which he said was a case of the exploitation of the Colorado mine owners in the western coal fields strike and was outspoken in his criticism of the Sherman antitrust law in its application to organized labor and in its demand for its repeal or amendment.

"During the last two years we have waged a vigorous campaign in the nonunion fields," he said "and the culmination of the campaign must and will result in the complete organization of the coal mining industry of the land."

"Within the last two years we have added 121,426 new members to our union, and because of our success in recruiting new members the American Federation of Labor has exceeded all past membership records and now has more than 2,000,000 members."

West Virginia Situation Regarding the West Virginia situation, Mr. Hayes said: "The subjugation of Governor Glasscock, tyranny of the militia, illegal imprisonment of our people, upsetting of constitutional government, intervention of the federal government through a sacrifice and final settlement of the strike are notable chapters in the life of our movement."

On the Colorado situation, Mr. Hayes said: "The strike was a splendid success, resulting in 95 per cent of the idea regarding to the coal. Within a short time about 30 independent companies recognized the union, granting the demands made by the Trinidad convention and putting to work about 1,600 men and helping materially to mold public sentiment in favor of our cause."

Anarchy in Colorado. "The strike in Colorado has been characterized by considerable brutality, due to the anarchistic policy favored by the operators in their war of extermination. At the beginning, they employed approximately 700 gunmen, many of them with criminal records, to whom petty larceny is considered a pastime and murder a skilled profession. Eight of our strikers have been murdered by these paid assassins. They also purchased several machine guns, a carload of rifles and thousands of cartridges."

Convicts Received AID FROM OUTSIDE Telephone Girl Tells Story of Mutiny; Officials Investigate Outbreak

MALESTER, Okla., Jan. 20.—That the three convicts whose dash for liberty from the state penitentiary here yesterday cost the lives of themselves, three prison officials and former United States Judge John R. Thomas, had outside aid was indicated by evidence heard today by members of the board of prison control.

The revolver used by David Koontz, leader of the mutinous prisoners, was identified as one recently sold by a local hardware dealer. The salesman recalled selling the weapon but the identity of the man who made the purchase has not been established. It was also learned that a horse and wagon, without a driver was standing at the prison gates when the men made their break. Members of the board intimated tonight that their inquiry so far failed to connect any trustees with the planning or the execution of the attempted escape.

Virtually normal conditions prevail at the penitentiary today. At the prison hospital it was said Miss M. Foster, the telephone operator, John Martin, turnkey, and J. W. Wood, guard who were wounded during the fight would recover.

Girl Recites Experience Miss Foster today gave a story of the battle. After losing the killing of former Judge Thomas and three prison employees, Miss Foster said:

The convicts then broke the telephone and grabbed me just after I was shot, and carried me with them until they seized Park Clerk Rice. Rushing us in front of them, he told the guards in the tower to get the guns and come down. Rice begged them to come down or the convicts would kill me. I still feel their guns pressed against my head. Then they put me in the buggy and one of the convicts held me down on his knees as we hurried along.

The complete must have been on of cartridges for they fired but only shot back. The convict who was wounded told me to get out of the buggy, and I got out while the horse was running. I begged them time and again along the road to let me out of the buggy, but they still held me.

Revolution Is Serious WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—News of the rout of the Haitian government forces and the flight of the minister of war caused state department officials tonight to conclude that the revolution raging in the northern part of the island republic is far more serious than previous dispatches indicated.

As there is no American warship on the north coast of Haiti, it was said the gunboat Nashville, now off Port Au Prince, would be ordered to proceed to Cape Haitien in order that officials here may have first hand information of the latest phase of the disturbances.

MEXICAN ARMY CAMPS IN U. S. REFUGEE FEDERALS NOW AT FORT BLISS

Gen. Mercedo Second in Command, Being Outranked by Gen. Scott

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 20.—Guarded by United States cavalrymen, the 1,300 Mexican federal soldiers and their 1,300 women and children camp followers who were forced to seek asylum in this country during the battle at Ojinaga, Mexico, today were interned at Fort Bliss for an indefinite stay on the footing of prisoners of war.

Gen. Salvador Mercedo, when his soldiers tumbled off the trains which brought them from Marfa, Tex., was still commander of his troops, but his authority was subordinate to that of the American officers. His duties were largely to assist in organizing the camp. The former chief of the Huerta army still wearing bits of gold braid on his uniform worked directly under Brig. Gen. Hugh L. Scott of the United States army and showed his gratitude for the treatment of himself and his men by telling the Mexican soldiers to obey orders.

Similar evidences of gratitude were shown by Generals Castro Landra, Ornela, Romero and Aduana, all of whom came on the long march on foot from Presidio, Tex., to Marfa, and thence by train to El Paso.

Mercedo Explains Flight. Soon after their arrival, the refugees were spread over the reservation mixing beans with chili and making tortillas out of flour furnished by the American army. How long the Mexicans are to be fed sheltered and clothed by the United States is not known, but the arrangements were to keep them here possibly a long time.

In defense of his abandonment of Ojinaga, and in answer to criticisms from Mexico City, General Mercedo detailed his reasons for taking asylum in this country.

He charged Gen. Pascual Orozco with cowardice and insubordination. He said Orozco repeatedly had robbed the federal provision train had become arrogant, had refused to attack the rebels, had abandoned his own troops and had run away under fire to give the impression that he heroically would remain on the Mexican side to fight more battles, whereas Orozco was afraid to cross into the United States because of an indictment pending against him here. He said Orozco had demanded money and had planned drunken orgies at the head of his forces.

Others Abandoned Posts. General Mercedo charged that Gen. Felix Salazar and Gen. Antonio Rojas, volunteer commanders, were cowardly under fire and that they abandoned their posts.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ENDS GREATEST YEAR SINCE ALL BODIES WERE CONSOLIDATED

Membership Now Totals 1,023, an Increase of 240 During 1913; Reports From Committees Show Big Volume of Work Done During Year

That the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce is a very much alive organization and an active factor in the development of the city and state was proved beyond a doubt at the annual meeting last night when 300 business and professional men of the city, all members of the organization, met at the rooms in the Burns theater and listened to the reports of the 17 or more committees in which the accomplishments of the various working units of the body were detailed for the last year. The meeting was the liveliest and most enthusiastic session ever held by the organization, and a new and unbeatable impetus for the work of the new year was created.

With the meeting last night the first three-year period of the consolidated organization was brought to a close and three members elected to the board of directors at the initial meeting. With one exception, retired and placed their stewardship in the hands of new men. The new board of directors will probably meet tomorrow at the Antlers to elect the new president and other officers for the coming year.

Many New Members Out The meeting last evening was attended by a large number of the new members taken in during recent campaigns and each one of these was made to realize that he is now a part of a working and active organization. The meeting started at 8:30 with a supper served in informal manner. Aside from the reading of reports by the chairmen of various committees, there was a short talk by Henry C. Hall in which he complimented the organization on the work of the last year. Several amendments to the by-laws were adopted as were also all of the reports read.

A survey in brief of the several reports shows that the Chamber of Commerce now has an active membership of 1,023, after starting the year with 783 resident and seven nonresident members. The deficit of the organization, due to enlarged work, at the beginning of 1913 was $2,700, and at the close of the year was but $800 or $600, the exact amount depending upon the amount of delinquent dues still collectable. A total of 330 meetings were held during the year and 351 members were on committees; the correspondence amounted to 3,886 letters, 2,886 inquiries, 1,880 circular letters, 5,670 news letters, and 6,000 membership bulletins. In all 250,000 pieces of literature were sent out.

Reports were read from the following committees, only the most salient points of the contents being given here: Finance Committee. The report of the finance committee shows that outstanding debts of the Chamber of Commerce amount to $271.07, with collectable accounts of $443.37, leaving a deficit of $169.70. The receipts for the year 1913 and to January 21, 1914, were $15,322 and the expenditures for the same period were $15,273.98, leaving a balance in the bank of $48.37. The report for the year on the tourist travel fund shows a balance of $69.52.

The financial statement for the Pike Peak region Shan Kise from June 1, 1913 to December 31, 1913, shows a cash balance of $133.33, the receipts for the period being $9,893.14 and the expenditures $9,759.81.

Committee on Conventions. Twenty-one important conventions were held in Colorado Springs and Manitou during the last year. Due to these meetings, 1,785 visitors were attracted to the city.

Praise for Retiring Directors. To those of us who are members of the board of directors have been privileged to work with them during the last year, it is with sincere regret that we bid them adieu.

Minority Members Declare It Has Not BEEN SHOWN THAT COAL COSTS 'TOO MUCH'

Both Reports of Coal Mine Investigating Commission Will Be Presented Today

Minority members of the municipal coal mine investigating commission yesterday presented to the commission a minority report on the problem. The report is signed by W. W. Curtis, E. D. Bowers and J. J. Lubank. The minority report together with that of the majority adopted last Friday night, will be presented to the city council this morning.

Objections to the majority report, minority members said in their findings are based almost entirely on the assumption that the present price of coal in Colorado Springs is too high. They argue that no evidence was introduced proving that high prices exist, and that their belief that the prices are high but that they know nothing of the coal market under which operators and dealers are working at present.

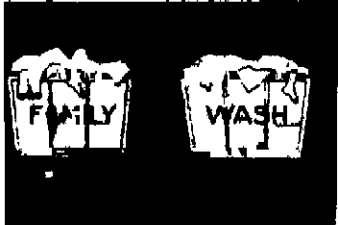

Problems are all the findings in the minority report were brought up in the discussion of the present Colorado Springs coal problem in one day. There are submitted to the commission a statement of the items which are to be included in the cost of producing coal, the cost of practically all of these items being disputed and placed at none of them outside of the labor expense and props having been included in the estimates referred to. It will be apparent to any business man that a business amounting to from $100,000 to $200,000 per year, which would represent in a measure any coal business which could take care of any considerable part of the local demand, cannot be managed by amateur bookkeeping methods and without considerable overhead charge.

Numerous other minor matters were brought out during the session. The commission are contained in the report.

 mittie and members of the senate interstate commerce commission, headed by Senator Newlands of Nevada, conferred again on plans for expediting the bill to be submitted to congress. Later, Senator Newlands talked with Joseph E. Davis, commissioner of corporations, who read the trade commission bill, proposed by the judiciary subcommittee. This measure now will be introduced from the senate committee, probably tomorrow.

Remedies Inadequate Murdock.
 Expressions on the message came freely from senators and representatives, Democratic, Republican and Progressive. The only unfavorable criticisms emanated from Progressives. Representative Murdock, the third party leader, asserting that the suggestions for the solution of the trust evil were "inadequate" and would render the trust evil more acute. One of the most significant comments came from Senator Gallinger, leader of the Republican minority in the upper house, who represents the most conservative type of Republicanism. "The president's recommendations are moderate," said Senator Gallinger, "and for the most part, wise. It seems to me there is nothing in the recommendations that need disturb business men or that would justify radical legislation. If the Democratic members in both branches of congress will formulate bills along the lines suggested by the president and abandon their method of legislation by party caucus they will find the Republicans ready to cooperate with them in bringing about legislation of real benefit to the country."

Very Satisfactory Lodge.
 Senator Lodge remarked that the message was "very satisfactory," and Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan said: "The president has at-

 Dear Mary -
 Have you ever tried to run for a rat in a skirt that measured exactly three-quarters of a yard around the bottom. In fact even tried to walk unconsciously, as if it were the easiest thing in the world to hop instead of walking off with the stride of an athletic American girl? I have tried the experiment, but not very successfully--the skirt was not strong enough. If you have had the same experience we can both sympathize with the person in the picture, her skirt will notice is sewed across the bottom like a pillow or potato sack, with two gartered openings allowed for the feet. I suppose she sits on the floor and pulls it on feet first but for that matter the three-quarter of a yard variety won't go on over the shoulders either.

If as the old saying goes, practice makes perfect, within a very short time we women should be the wonderful contortionists, all the queer stunts we are obliged to go through with in order to get into and out of our necessary coverings.

But it's all in a lifetime, dear old let's not miss a single thing that adds to the excitement.

SHERIFF SEARCHING FOR 3 SUSPECTED DYNAMITERS

Finna Left Fuse and Caps on Train in Calumet District and Made Their Escape

HOUGHTON, Mich., Jan. 20.—Search for three Finns who left a parcel of dynamite fuses and caps behind them on a Duluth, Southshore & Atlantic train on their arrival here last night from Negaunee was instituted today by Sheriff Cruise and his men in Houghton county.

The conductor of the train remembered distinctly that one of the men carried a carpet bag and that the other two had ordinary valises. The dynamite parcel was found in the seat soon after they had left the car. Although the discovery was reported almost immediately to the authorities, trace of the trio was lost after they had reached Hancock on the opposite side of Portage lake. No suspects had been arrested this morning, but the sheriff's deputies were still hunting for the men. The deputies were under orders to pick up any men answering the description of the suspects as given by the train conductor.

The package contained 250 dynamite caps and Sheriff Cruise suspected a dynamite plot directed at one or more of the copper mines in this district. The strikers maintained their peaceful attitude toward the nonunion men at work in the mines today and no trouble of any kind was reported.

lacked the problem from his own viewpoint, but probably his program will do some good."

Senator Kenyon of Iowa, who represents the progressive Republican wing of the party, praised the address. "It was admirable," he said. "I am in full accord with it, especially that portion which would fix personal guilt for violation of our trust laws."

Representative Mann, the minority leader of the house, also commended the message, particularly the suggestion for government regulation of issuance of railroad stocks and bonds. He recalled that he had put the same proposition through the house once in the face of Democratic opposition.

Senator Jones of Washington, also a Progressive leader, was not sure the president's plan would satisfy the country. "I am not so certain," he said, "the president's plan will be reassuring to business. It depends entirely on how it is worked out. You cannot make a thing not destructive merely by saying it is not destructive. I look for a long session."

Bristow Awaits Results.
 Senator Bristow asserted he would wait to see the bills that spring from the president's suggestions before he made comment. "If the bills are as reactionary as the currency bill," he said, "I certainly will not support them."

Democratic leaders were very enthusiastic over the message. Senator Kern declared it would command the admiration and confidence of the country. Representative Underwood said it left no cause for alarm by the business interests, and Speaker Clark said it would be reassuring to the nation.

Attorney General McReynolds said: "It is a peculiarly brilliant and lucid message setting forth what is demanded by the situation with wonderful force."

The trade commission bill to be introduced in the senate by the interstate commerce committee, it was stated tonight, follows very much the form of the Newlands bill introduced at the last session. It would provide for a commission of five members, with inquisitorial powers, authority to aid the courts in investigations and enforcement of decrees, and also to serve as an information bureau to corporations and to aid business in keeping out of trouble.

KILLED WIFE TO END HER MISERY, AGED MAN SAYS

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20.—Tottering under the weight of his 80 years, William Eberwein stood in criminal court here today and told a simple, but dramatic story of how his wife, 15 years younger had pleaded with him to kill her, and how he committed the deed. After the old man had committed the story, Judge Walling, or Erie Pa., temporarily presiding in the court, surveyed the bent form of the prisoner, fixed the crime at murder in the second degree and imposed the minimum penalty, which, in this case, was practically a life sentence. It was solitary confinement in the penitentiary for not less than seven years nor more than 14.

Holding onto the prisoner's desk with trembling hands Eberwein, who is a veteran of the Civil war, told the court that his wife was an invalid and that one day last October he came into their home and found her lying at the bottom doorway down which she had fallen. He offered to have her sent to a hospital but she would not go.

Pains All Over

Houston, Tex. For five years I have suffered with pains all over especially in my back and side and was so weak I could hardly do my housework. A friend told me of Cardui. MEXICAN ARMY CAMPS IN U. S.

Their posts as soon as the rebels appeared. "The appearance of Orozco at Chihuahua, before we left for Ojinaga, was fatal to the federal cause. General Merceda said. He had been told by some one that he was to be governor and military chief. Hence his insolence and refusal. The secretary of war ordered him to cover the railroad from Juarez south. He disobeyed this order because he was afraid of Villa. Rojas also repeatedly abandoned his positions in a cowardly manner. There were quarrels of all kinds. In Chihuahua, General Manilla, Salazar, Orpinal and Rojas told me their forces were panic-stricken, and would not fight. That led me to evacuate Chihuahua, for I had no support. The rich citizens, with the exception of Luis Terrazas, who gave $5,000 pesos, refused to aid us after we had been cut off from Mexico City."

Robbed by Own Officers.

The events after our arrival at Ojinaga were attended by quarrels and disobedience on the part of Orozco, Salazar and Rojas. Orozco robbed our own provision train. His friends have tried to make it appear that he was too proud to cross to the United States, and that he preferred to remain in Mexico to the finish of the campaign. Orozco ran away from his troops and the proof is that his troops are with us now.

When Villa made his final attack our troops were demoralized by reason of the cowardice of Orozco, Salazar and Rojas. Besides our ammunition was short.

"When the truth is known it will be realized that the criticisms of me in taking the army to foreign soil were unjust. I wish the world to know that our disgrace, however bitter, was not born of any cowardice on the part of those who crossed the Rio Grande."

General Merceda said he was ready to go to Mexico City to stand trial by court-martial. He said he would disprove charges that he left Chihuahua because of money furnished by the Terrazas family.

LABOR ORGANIZER IS ROBBED ON THE TRAIN

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 20.—J. R. Olden, who said he was a union labor organizer of Hagerstown, Md., on his way to the convention of the United Mine Workers of America at Indianapolis, was robbed of valuable papers on Baltimore & Ohio railroad train No. 1, near Morgantown and Kingsford railroad junction early today.

The robbers escaped and Olden, guarded by a railroad detective, continued his journey. Olden told the railroad men that he was playing cards with a stranger when he was knocked down from behind. When he recovered consciousness, three men one of them the man with whom he had been playing cards were bending over him, each armed with a pistol. They told him they wanted no money but they wanted his valise in which were valuable union organization papers. Persons in the car attempted to interfere but were held back by the men until they gained the vestibule. There they remained until the train stopped and then jumped from the car and escaped.

CHICHESTER'S PILLS

London has just had the sensation of discovering a new, multimillionaire. Harry Mallaby-Deeley, a member of parliament, who was known to be a real estate operator, but never suspected of handling millions. Not until he bought 19 acres in the heart of London for $15,000,000, property including the famous old Garden Court Lane theatre, Waldorf Hotel, Bow Street police court, Aldwych theatre, Strand theatre and the National Theatre club, did he begin to wonder who he was.

rounds of ammunition for the express purpose of a general superintendent expressed it as wiping the strikers off the map.

These machine guns shoot 250 shots a minute and have a range of two miles. They turned one of these guns loose on our little tent city at Forbes, killing one striker and wounding a 16-year old boy shooting him nine times in the back making him a cripple for life.

Militia Aids Operators.

The militia of Colorado, as usual in being used to assist the operators in fighting the strike. Many of our most active men have been thrown in jail by the military forces without any charges being preferred against them. No one is allowed to talk to these military prisoners and they are tortured and starved by officers in charge for the alleged purpose of forcing them to make some sort of a confession.

Mr. Hayes referred to the indictments returned under the Sherman antitrust law. Your officials have been twice indicted for alleged violations of the Sherman antitrust law. He said he. One of these indictments was returned in West Virginia, and one in Colorado. The particular charge against us in West Virginia was that we were parties to a conspiracy in restraint of trade, in that we had entered into an unholy alliance with the operators in the organized states to put the West Virginia operators out of business.

"As proof of the utter silliness of this charge, I wish to say that not a single one of our alleged partners in this so-called conspiracy, the operators in the organized fields, were indicted with us or even named, directly or indirectly, in any of the charges."

Rockefeller Not Indicted.

The charges, as every one knows, were preferred for the sole purpose of discrediting and retarding our movement in the nonunion fields.

John D. Rockefeller, the head of one of the largest trusts in America, is the controlling factor in the largest coal company in the strike field, and it is an interesting parody on the Sherman antitrust law that he and his subordinates in that state escaped indictments under its provisions, especially in view of the fact that his coal company dominates the situation in Colorado, regulates the price of coal, etc., stifling all competition, violating laws of state and nation and yet escapes with a few words of criticism.

"In view of the indictment of your officials under this act, I advise members of our union to take drastic measures for amendment of this so-called antitrust law, so that its provisions will not apply to labor unions."

Message to "Mother" Jones.

The convention voted unanimously to send a telegram to "Mother" Jones expressing "love and admiration for your brilliant stand for humanity" and demanding her immediate release. "Be of good cheer and rest assured that justice will yet triumph in corporation-owned Colorado," the message concluded.

Mr. Green told of the growth of the organization and the finances of the past year. He said the union now had $2,000,000, every dollar of which could be used as a strike defense fund.

Two attempts were made today to remove the convention from this city, but both failed. It is probable that another effort will be made when the resolutions committee reports tomorrow.

Asks Congressional Probe.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Charles E. Mahoney, vice president of the Western Federation of Miners, Claude O. Taylor, president of the Michigan Federation of Labor, William Mahon of Detroit, international president of the Street Railway Workers, and John H. Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, appeared today before the executive council of the American Federation of Labor and urged support for the movement for a congressional investigation of the Michigan copper and Colorado coal strike situations.

What So Precious As a Healthy Baby?

Every Youngster Can Have Fine Digestion If Given a Good Baby Laxative

In spite of the great attention paid to the most intelligent attention to diet babies and children will be one unthoughtful and it is a fact that constipation and indigestion have so often ruined a young life. To start with a good digestive apparatus is to start life without handicap.

But as we cannot all have perfect working bowels, we must do the next best thing and require them to train them to become healthy. This can be done by the use of a laxative. It is highly recommended by a great many mothers. The remedy is called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and has been on the market for two generations. It can be bought conveniently at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, and those who are already convinced of its merits buy the dollar size.

Its mildness makes it the ideal medicine for children and it is also very pleasant to the taste. It is sure in its effect, and genuinely harmless. Very little of it is required and its frequent use does not cause it to lose its effect as in the case with so many other remedies.

Thousands can testify to its merits in constipation, indigestion, biliousness, sick headaches, etc., among their reliable people like Mrs. James R. Rouse, of Marinette, Wis. Her little son Howard was fifteen months old last April, but he was sick with bowel trouble from birth and suffered intensely. Since Mrs. Rouse has been using him Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin all trouble has disappeared and the boy is becoming robust.

Thousands keep Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the house, for every member of the family can use it from infancy to old age. The users of Syrup Pepsin have learned to avoid cathartics, salts, mineral waters, pills and other harsh remedies for they do but temporary good and are a shock to any delicate system.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address, on which you will find a coupon, will do.

WATER METERS ARE ECONOMIC

From the Engineering News.
 A striking illustration of the value of water meters is afforded by the fact that the water consumption of the Metropolitan Water district of Massachusetts (Boston and vicinity) was less for November, 1913, than for any other November since 1900, notwithstanding the increase in population in the last 13 years. Without meters, costly enlargements of the water system would have been necessary. The result attained must afford great satisfaction to Dexter Brackett, who, in the service of both the old Boston water department and the Metropolitan Water district, has long and ably advocated the use of meters and supported his advocacy by studies and reports which are classics in their field.

FAMILY OF TEN UNABLE TO KEEP WARM AT NIGHT

Associated Charities Asks That Bed Clothing Be Sent to Poor Who Require Assistance

A pathetic case of a family without bed clothing has been brought to the attention of the Associated Charities. There are eight children in the family and the father and mother, owing to the scarcity of work in the city at the present time, have been unable to provide for them. According to some of the charity workers who investigated the case, the family is sleeping on the mattress of the two or three beds which neighbors have recently donated. The family moved to Colorado Springs last August and at the time had money enough to rent a furnished house in one of the poorer districts. Lately funds grew so low they were no longer able to meet the rent and the family was compelled to move. They were without furniture, but through the charity of several people everything but bed clothes.

"I wish I could find someone who would be willing to give a few covers of some sort to this family," said one of the charity officials yesterday. "There are probably a good many families in this city who have discarded or old bed clothes which they would be glad to give if we could but make them understand the need of this family."

Card Game Results in Cutting Affray

"Mexican monte," a gambling game famous throughout the turbulent southern republic, is said to be the cause of a serious cutting affray at Palmer Lake Monday night, and as the result, Tony Trinidad is lying at the point of death in St. Francis hospital, Joe Gardener is in the county jail, and two other Mexicans are being held as witnesses. Gardener also received serious slashes, having been cut on the head and neck. Trinidad was stabbed through one lung and his condition was reported critical last night. Gardener and the other two Mexicans were placed under arrest yesterday afternoon at Palmer Lake and brought to the county jail by Deputy Sheriff Charles Birdall. When searched at the jail, Gardener was found to have a large clasp knife which was covered with blood.

According to the story the officers learned yesterday, Gardener lost heavily in the "monte" game Monday night and Trinidad was the winner. They started to quarrel over the game and Gardener proved the best man with the knife. Trinidad was brought here yesterday morning. The charge in the case will depend upon the extent of Trinidad's injuries.

Police Arrest Man Who Frightened Girls

The mystery of the "man of the quadrangle" is believed has been solved. With the arrest Sunday night of John Brown, alias John Cronin, the police believe they have in custody the man who has been frightening the girls in the dormitories at Colorado college. Several times during the last four months a mysterious man has been seen lurking around the "quadrangle," as the group of girls' dormitories is known, and a number of girls have been frightened by seeing a man sneaking through the underbrush in the jungle, the college park west of McGregor hall. The man generally made his appearance between 10 o'clock and midnight and on several occasions he fled at the approach of some of the men of the institution.

The police arrested Cronin Sunday night when they found him acting queerly in the neighborhood of the halls. He has been placed in the county jail and will be examined as to his sanity.

The proceeds from the ball will be turned over to the custodian of the sick fund of the union. Arrangements for the evening were in charge of R. B. Arnold, C. M. Johnson and T. T. It is a joy and comfort to know that those much talked-of pains and other distresses that are said to precede child-bearing may easily be avoided. No woman need fear the slightest discomfort if she will fortify herself with the well-known and time-honored remedy, "Mother's Friend."

They naturally expand without the slightest strain, and thus not only banish all tendency to nervous, twitching spells, but there is an entire freedom from nausea, discomfort, sleeplessness and dread that so often leave their impress upon the babe.

The occasion is therefore one of unbounded, joyful anticipation, and too much stress can not be laid upon the remarkable influence which a mother's happy, prenatal disposition has upon the health and fortune of the generation to come.

Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers, thousands of whom have used and recommended it. You will find it on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle. WATER TAPPED IN SHAFT OF OLD GOLD MINES CO.

Drainage of Properties on West Slope of Beacon Hill to Permit Work on New Ore Bodies

The crosscut carried from the ninth level of the main shaft of the C. K. and N. Mine on the eastern slope of Beacon hill in the Chicago Creek district last Saturday night, tapped the water in the main shaft of the Old Gold Mines company, a machine drill hole, and the accumulated seepage water is rapidly draining out.

The drill holes, however, will not be fired until the water has drained off through vein connections with the Roosevelt Deep Drainage tunnel, but this will take but a short time inasmuch as the water has already fallen 35 feet since the shaft was turned on Saturday.

The drainage of this property is important for all mines on the western slope of Beacon hill, in addition to the Old Gold Mine. The Henry Adney and Mary Nevin mines will now be freed from water to the same depth and this means that the known ore bodies in these properties, that have long been submerged may now be developed.

Rapid work has been accomplished in the driving of the drift from the C. K. and N., and it is claimed that greater speed has been made than any other similar work attempted in the Pike's Peak granite of Beacon hill. Working but one shift the machine drill men and force selected by M. R. Hagg, lessee of the C. K. and N. mine, who held the contract for the work, accomplished the feat of breaking 177 feet in one month.

The Old Gold mine is under lease to Oscar Fogelman and associates and as soon as the shaft is free from water, active operations will be resumed underground and the property which has made a gross production in excess of $300,000, will shortly be brought back to the producing class.

TRY IT

IN ONE MINUTE! CLOGGED NOSTRILS OPEN HEAD-COLDS AND CATARRH GO TRY THIS!

Breathe Freely! Clears Stuffed-up, Inflamed Nose and Head and Stops Catarrhal Discharge. Cures Dull Headache.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm."

Get a small bottle anyway. Just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open. You will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning the catarrh cold-in-head or catarrh sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils, penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucus dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear. Adv.

NEW YORK MARKET CHICAGO MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—President Wilson's recommendations to Congress regarding antitrust legislation were of little effect on the stock market. After the message appeared, the market moved in the same irregular way as during the previous session of the session, closing with small gains for representative stocks.

The apathetic attitude of the market probably was due to the fact that the message contained no important feature for which the street was justly prepared. The measure closely paralleled forecasts and traders found in it no new features which they could seize upon as a basis for operations. It was thought that later, when sufficient time had elapsed for more careful study of the message and crystallization of sentiment, the effect on the market might be more pronounced.

At the outset the market was slightly lower, but movements were unusually narrow throughout the early session. Following publication of the message, the market rose for a time, but when it became apparent that little progress could be made in that direction traders sold the market, on the theory that the effect of the message had been discounted. Prices went down to the low level of the day but in the last hour they were bid up strongly. Heading again reflected persistent realising. Canadian Pacific was affected by European selling, and for a time showed a loss of more than two points. Petroleum advanced, particularly Mexican, were strong.

Bonds were firm. Government municipal and some second and third grade mortgages were conspicuously strong. Total sales for value $3,280,000. Panama 3's registered advanced 1/4 on call.
